Hello all:

The EGAC has had some wonderful events over the last few months. The "Little Picture Show" was such a huge success. The paintings looked fabulous and we had a wonderful turnout at the Opening. Kudos to Jeannine & Debbie and their committee; the presentation of the wine, cheese, and deserts, were a triumph. Dianne can't wait to report the number of paintings sold by our artists at the show.

The workshop with Ernest Principato was well received and Elaine was tireless in searching for the best location that could accommodate the group, had to have the best light and for the best price. Thank you Elaine, for a job well done.

The NY City bus trip is just around the corner and there are some seats left. Call me or send in your registration to reserve your seat. The committee will be meeting soon to plan some summer activities and we will keep you posted.

See you at the meeting.
Nancy

MFA & Gardner Museum Trip Boston

A great clear brisk Saturday made a wonderful day for a train trip to Boston. Comments from my party; half had never been to the MFA and many had not ridden on the train in a very long time. Ruggles station is the best stop for the MFA which is about four blocks from the station. After shedding coats we entered the hallowed walls of inspiration. We enjoyed visiting the many inspiring room of art and where able to take the time to discuss with fellow artists the works of the "greats".

Little Picture Show

The Opening Reception for our Little Picture Show was held at the EG Library on March 9. We had good attendance in spite of Mother Nature's attempt to derail it with a cold day that was rainy and snowy. Thirty-two artists participated and eight of them sold paintings--congratulations! Other sales were of our commemorative pins and card packs. There were many compliments about the exhibition and well as on our "goodies" (as evidenced by the amount of people who were still there at 7:30) I believe this event will continue to grow in attendance as well as artist participation. Many thanks to my committee and any others who made this event such a success.

Jeannine Anderson, Chairman

March 7, 2009 – Fifteen artists met at the Swift Gym in East Greenwich for a painting workshop conducted by Ernest Principato, a fine artist and instructor. His demonstration was exciting to watch, showing his depth of knowledge and skill. We all then went to work and received one on one guidance from Prince. The atmosphere was most convivial, everyone mingled, you could hear the concentration of the artists. Everyone thought the event was a success, learning much and enjoying being together. We'll do it again
